About This Content

Hegis' Grasp - The Written Story is the thrilling novelette, written by Dean Clark, upon which the story campaign of the game is based.

1896, Great Britain: Henry Wood, a journalist who heard rumours of a village, that supposedly had undergone a curse, gets curious enough to check out the place for his latest anticipated newspaper story. Bringing Jacob, his nephew, coach boy, and intern journalist, and his friend and escort, Lieutenant Samuel Miller, on his trip to Hegis in order to uncover the truth. However, he soon finds this to be a mistake and that he put his companions and himself in grave danger!

The author, Dean Clark, is a freelance writer who has experience with Gametyrant doing game articles, as well as with other games such as: Hegis' Grasp and Card Chronicles. He is also a featured author in the Celenic Earth Anthology series: CEA Through the Dark, CEA Into the Beyond, and CEA Past your Reality. After being given the chance to create the world of Antreya, he proved to have the concept of the land and will be able to tell the story of ACO.
